THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

December 11, 2014

Dear Students:

Hearing from thoughtful, engaged students like you gives me great hope for the future, and I am glad you took the time to share your views with me.

In a few short years, your generation will be charting America’s course. And more than anything else, the progress we make will depend on your ideas, your commitment, and your willingness to change our country for the better.

Keep dreaming big and working hard. If you stay focused on your education and on improving your community, I know there are no limits to what you can accomplish.

Thank you, again, for writing. I wish you all the best.

Sincerely,

[Signature]
Sincerely,

Keep pushing your students to think bigger and set their sights higher.

and it will shape our nation's future.

enthusiasm and dedication. Your work is making a difference in young people's lives.

Success in their eyes is the person in the front of the room, and I am inspired by your sincerity in the moment a child enters a classroom, the single most important

Thank you for your service as a leader, and for sharing your students' lives.

WASHINGTON

THE WHITE HOUSE